

The cloud is exploding! Are you taking advantage? PaperVision.com lets you offer real information management in the cloud. As a dealer you get paid to sign up new users. Leverage Digitech Systems twenty year history of product innovation by helping organizations to securely manage important business records in the cloud.

A Product You Can Be Proud To Sell

- Trust the analysts at Buyers Lab and Nucleus Research who consistently rate Digitech Systems as an industry leader.
- Rely on our twenty year history of securely managing sensitive customer information in the cloud.
- Be confident that your customers will enjoy a sensible balance between price and performance as they choose the edition that best meets their needs.

The Easiest Records Management Add-on Available

- Shorten sales cycles by selecting the appropriate subscription option.
- Simply add cloud-based document management to every business opportunity that crosses your path.
- Win the business, and we will manage the relationships and provide product support.

Grow Revenue

- Enhance sales with this affordable cloud service to help customers with their information management challenges.
- Find more sales opportunities because PaperVision.com expands your product lineup without the need to learn a new product.
- Earn dealer commissions for every new company you add while limiting the costs associated with handling customers.

All businesses feel pressed to securely store and share information, and they're looking to the cloud for solutions. PaperVision.com allows you to offer enterprise-level features like process automation, integration, security, and e-forms at a simple per-user, feature-based price. Bring real cloud-based Enterprise Content Management (ECM) to your customers.

Easily Increase Your Revenue

Most business problems involve ineffective management of information, so adding records management in the cloud will increase the size of every deal you pursue. Bundle hardware and software sales providing information management solutions that better fit your customers' needs without paying for features they don't need or want.

Target Every Business

PaperVision.com explodes your sales opportunity! Every business struggles to more effectively organize and use information. Three feature set editions (Basic, Professional, and Enterprise) help customers balance price and performance, because each edition targets specific information needs. And customers can add more users and more storage on the fly. Every size and type of business is now your prospect!

Stay Focused on Sales

Don't get distracted by product support and handling customers! Target new sales opportunities and close all your deals, because we will manage customer relationships and provide ongoing technical support. Keep your entire team focused on generating new revenue for your business!

Control Your Own Success

Set your own schedule, involvement, and activity. You can sell to any business, but you're under no obligations to meet pre-set quotas. We won't limit the size or type of deal you can pursue. Performance incentives ensure that the more you sell, the more you earn! Your success is entirely within your own control.

For additional information visit: PaperVision.com
Or call 866.374.3569 or email pvsales@papervision.com.